

Every Year, the World Health Organization (WHO) recognizes individuals or organizations in each of the six WHO Regions for their accomplishments in the area of tobacco control. This recognition takes the form of WHO Director – General special recognition Awards, World No Tobacco Day Awards, and in 2015 the Honorable Minister of Health and Indigenous Medicine of Sri Lanka Dr. Rajitha Senarathne, has won this prestigious award from the South East Asia Region.