

Inviting nominations for Public Health Champion Awards 2016 – India

Ministry of Foreign Affairs has communicated to the Ministry of Health that the World Health Organization (WHO) country office for India intends to recognize efforts of individuals and institutions who have made an outstanding contribution to public health through advocacy for and involvement in health policies, strategies and programmes with proven public health achievements and substantial improvement in health outcomes with equity in the country.

The awards comprise of two categories:

1. Sustained contribution to the field of public health and
2. Innovation

The awards will be for both, individuals as well as institutions, in each of the two categories. An individual or organization can nominate self or others.

More information can be obtained by visiting the link: <http://ngobox.org/WHO/>. For nominations visit the link: <http://ngobox.org/WHO/nominations.php> . The last day for the nominations has been declared as 14th March 2016 by 11.59pm.

The nominations are accepted only online and the process of the applications and verification is handled by the NGOBOX. The final nominations will be reviewed by a core group at the WHO country office for India.