

Vacancy for the Project Staff – Field Assistant

Study to Determine the Incidence of Dengue Fever & to Build Capacity for Dengue Vaccine Trials
Epidemiology Unit, Ministry Of Health

Background

DPIV-021, a prospective, multi-center, cohort study funded by GSK Biologicals SA to determine the incidence of acute febrile illness and to build capacity for dengue vaccine clinical endpoint trial in Dengue endemic region of Kolonnawa, Sri Lanka. The Epidemiology Unit of the Ministry of Health has been chosen to lead the surveillance component of this project in Sri Lanka over the next year.

Qualifications and experience

G.C.E. A/L, Ability to work in English, Computer Literacy.
Prior experience in similar capacity would be an additional advantage.

Duties and Responsibilities

Help doctors and do field work including visiting study families, support doctors to do on call service by helping to assist patients, transport blood samples when necessary and all other duties assigned by the project director.

Nature of the Post

Post will be on full time contract basis with an attractive monthly remuneration package based on experience.

Send your CV within 10 days from the date of publication of this advertisement by post or by email. All applications should be forwarded with a covering letter briefly describing how your knowledge and experiences will benefit this project. Only short listed candidates will be called in for an interview.

Send your applications to: Chief Epidemiologist
Epidemiology Unit
231, De Saram Place
Colombo -10

Email: edspidh2016@gmail.com

Handwritten signature and date: 30/8/2018

Dr. S.A.R. Dissanayake
Chief Epidemiologist/Director
Epidemiology Unit
231, De Saram Place,
Colombo 10.